In our ever-changing landscape, 2018 has been a year of transition: a large part of the year was dedicated to the legacy of the Juncker’s Commission, and this process is continuing in the first months of 2019. Because of this, 2018 was a year full of opportunities for the Lifelong Learning Platform, its members, partners, and Europe at large, to assess the state of play of education in Europe and most of all to collectively steer the direction that we want to take. In 2018 we received and discussed the proposals for the next Multiannual Financial Framework (and in particular the new Erasmus+ programme), we discussed the second package of measures for the European Education Area, the one for the Future of Learning and, as LLLP, took stock of the solid partnership between Education and Culture.

As the European Civil Society Platform for Education, we believe that high-quality and inclusive education is at the heart of the solution to Europe’s problems, since there can be no future without a substantial investment in education and training. This was a view shared throughout 2018 by most EU Member States, as outlined in the first-ever European Education Summit.

Aware that common issues ought to be solved through a shared approach, we actively engaged with the European Commission, the European Parliament, and the Council of the EU as well as other relevant institutional stakeholders throughout the year. We welcomed the packages of measures that seek to bring the European Education Area to life and look forward to their application. We appreciate the place given to inclusive education and to the synergies of education with other fields and particularly culture given by the Bulgarian and Austrian presidencies - the cornerstone of both our LLLWeek and Annual Conference.

We strengthened ties with important actors of civil society - especially in the social investment sector - joined the EU Alliance for Investing in Children, and launched a project with institutional actors such as UNESCO UIL, Cedefop, EESC. Our work was given a new impetus thanks to the proposal for a renewed and increased budget for the Erasmus+ programme.

Drawing from our experience, building on our membership’s expertise, pooling resources and fighting for what we stand for, we are ready for the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead. Because of current challenges and now even more than ever, education in its universal scope shall be recognised as the foundation upon which to build an open and fair society in Europe and beyond.

Gina Ebner,
President of the LLLPlatform

Capacity building
LLL General Assembly DLearn and UNIMED joined the LLLP Family!
In 2018, the LLLPlatform released statements on a number of EU policy initiatives to highlight civil society’s views on the issues at stake. Most of the LLLP advocacy activity was centred on the negotiations for the next Multiannual Financial Framework, and in particular for the advancement of the Erasmus+ as European flagship programme. All LLLP statements are produced in constant consultation with the membership and contribute to the shaping of LLLP’s own political identity.

- «Future of Learning Package»
- «The future of the Erasmus+»
- «Building synergies between education and culture»
- «Joint contribution on the future of Erasmus+»
- «Building a stronger Europe: the role of youth, education and culture policies»
- «An EU budget that empowers its citizens through learning and cooperation»
LLLP dedicated two large awareness-raising events to this topic. In spring, together with Culture Action Europe, we gathered civil society organisations from different sectors to understand the needs of the ground and create real synergies between education and culture. In our milestone event «Culture and education for all!» we discussed teachers’ education, digital learning, EU programmes and defined the pathway for our thematic year.

During the Annual Conference in Vienna, in July, we then explored the policy implications with our membership and EU actors, to better understand how to position the need for substantiated synergies within the European Agenda.

Discussions during these events informed the revisited position paper «Building synergies between education and culture», which aims to outline the current challenges and the futurable opportunities that breaking the silos would bring to learning.

On top of this, the LLLPlatform gave the floor to its members to discuss the topic deeper. The LLLWeek18 sought to develop the topic even further, with members and partners in the front row. Ten different events tackled the many nuances of “Lifelong Learning Culture”, from active citizenship and consumer education, and from learning environments to career guidance.

The need to conjugate education and culture under the umbrella of learning activities informed of course the LLLAwards18 as well! Under our umbrella, we gathered the best practices that contributed to the creation of a knowledge hub in the field.

In May 2018, the European Commission released its proposal for the 2021-2027 EU Multiannual Financial Framework (MFF). The MFF will impact the next financial period, defining the key areas of spending that the EU deems as priorities. The LLLPlatform has worked extensively to advocate for education to play a bigger role in the next budget, also through the Erasmusx10 campaign.

The Lifelong Learning Platform welcomes the steps towards a rational adjustment of spending and the commitment to double the budget of Erasmus+ - a commendable first step to boost the inclusiveness and accessibility of this iconic EU programme in the field of education, training and lifelong learning. However, LLLP has been calling EU leaders to focus on empowering citizens. Such empowerment can only be achieved if citizens rights are fulfilled through an EU budget that puts learning at its heart. We call upon the EU to base its future financial framework on the following principles:

1. Education, research and innovation as the only viable long-term vision for the EU;
2. Well-coordinated cooperation and peer learning between Member States and all relevant stakeholders;
3. Quality learning mobility and culture awareness for learners of all ages and backgrounds;
4. Adequate funding for pan-European civil society organisations to support their valuable work with and outreach to citizens.
The Lifelong Learning Platform is the special network where capacity-building and knowledge-sharing take place! We leverage on the strengths of our network to build a knowledge hub, cooperate on projects, share results, mutually reinforce each other claims, and find synergies to work together in the future. We enable our members to create common goals and empower them to achieve them.
PROJECT COOPERATION

ADVOCACY THROUGH ERASMUS+

DIGIT (KA2) will last until the end of 2019 and seeks to boost digital competences for a responsible use of online identity by adults. DIGIT will provide the necessary educational instruments and supporting tools for adult educators.

Coordinated by LLLP, InnoVal (KA2) identified innovative and reliable assessment methods that can allow all learners to have a chance at validation, with a special focus on the needs of disadvantaged groups such as refugees, long-term unemployed and early-school leavers. A European Conference on assessment methods in September served as final event.

Through project COMANITY (KA3), LLLP will develop a new ‘Community Animateur’ role and training programme, which aim is to bridge the existing gap between marginalised young people and public institutions such as youth services.

In 2018, LLLP, EAEA and EARLALL could benefit from mobility learning through the ODESEA (KA1) project.

PROJECT COOPERATION

NEW PROJECTS IN 2018

DIGIt (KA2) will last until the end of 2019 and seeks to boost digital competences for a responsible use of online identity by adults. DIGIT will provide the necessary educational instruments and supporting tools for adult educators.

Robotics as an introductory channel to coding is the focus of CODESKILLS4ROBOTICS (KA2), a project that will seek to facilitate the development of programming in primary schools.

DIMELI4AC (KA2) will develop a toolbox to boost digital media competences, critical thinking and democratic values among students aged 10 to 15.

What has the EU done for the validation of volunteering? A synthesis of this work is the objective of improVal (KA2), that will bring together the best practices from previous successful EU projects.

Mindful of inclusion issues, LLLP is partners in TAMPADA (KA2), that aims to develop an outreach mechanism to track long-term outcomes of disadvantaged learners participation education.

In the IN-QUAL project (KA2), LLLP supports the implementation of quality assurance mechanisms within training and work-based learning pathways for entrepreneurship education.

LLLP’s project Job Bridge (KA2) will improve the recognition and the validation of volunteers’ experiences and competences in a valuable way for employers too.

Open Your Eyes (KA2) seeks to improve the digital literacy of adult learners by providing them with tools to identify fake news and fight the spread of disinformation online.
OUR EVENTS
RAISING AWARENESS ABOUT LLL

Why events? Our events step up our work and help us raise awareness of lifelong learning. The Lifelong Learning Platform thinks of meetings and events as strategic parts of its mission. We carry out all our activities in a holistic way that makes them deeply interconnected, so that we can leverage on the different and many strengths of the network. Because of this, events are a transversal and crucial tool for our activities, and help us capitalise on the knowledge built by LLLP and its members. Events serve as focal point to then pour this knowledge on to influence the policy work of the European institutions.

As varied as they come, events stem from the large Annual Conference to restricted policy meetings, from informal gatherings to the iconic LLLWeek. Some events are organised and implemented solely by the LLLPlatform, some others can benefit from fruitful partnerships. Each of them has a unique purpose and each of them is a tool that we exploit to make sure our mission is fulfilled.
In March 2018 we organised, together with Culture Action Europe, a European debate on «Culture and Education for all». The event, gathered European and international institutions as well as civil society representatives, and laid the foundation for the update of LLLP position paper on «Building synergies between education and culture».

LLLP was also a partner in the Yo!Fest and took part to the European Youth Event in Strasbourg, focusing our contribution on digital learning and inclusion!

The flagship event of LLLP, the LLLWeek, took place on 3-7 December in the European Parliament in Brussels. Ten events on the different aspects of Lifelong Learning Culture were organised, with a great turnout of public: the perfect humous to build on existing partnership and create fertile ground for new ones.

In June we partnered with the European Economic and Social Committee for the Civil Society Days. Here we organised an interactive debate on Education and Culture: a synergy for European identity in all its diversity.

In 2018 we had 7 internal Working Group meetings!

The LLLP Annual Conference was held in Vienna, thanks to the partnership with the Austrian Presidency of the Council of the EU. «Lifelong Learning Culture» was declined with EU representatives, education practitioners and civil society organisations, to address the policy challenges of a renewed partnership.

...and 10 Erasmus+ Coalition meetings!

UNIMED joined the LLLPlatform to increase contacts with the European lifelong learning community, and to provide our members - universities from the Mediterranean region - with more “intelligence” on what is happening in the different Brussels circuits of influence. This is particularly important in this moment, as UNIMED is involved in the Erasmus+ Virtual Exchange project, an initiative with high policy relevance where we need to reach out not only to higher education stakeholders but also to youth and lifelong learnings actors.

Marcello Scalisi, UNIMED
THE PLATFORM
OUR STRUCTURE

The LLLPlatform pivots around the collaboration of the General Assembly, the Steering Committee and the Secretariat. The General Assembly is the highest body of the association, it defines the annual priorities and objectives of the LLLPlatform and its work programme. Headed by the President, its annual meeting is attended by all the members.

The Steering Committee is the administrative body of the LLLPlatform. It is composed of a maximum of nine representatives from the network. The Steering Committee is in charge of the administrative tasks of the association and of the implementation of the work programme adopted by the General Assembly. In 2018, Gina Ebner was elected to replace the outgoing LLLP President David López, whom we wholeheartedly thank for its work and dedication.

The Secretariat ensures the day-to-day management of the LLLPlatform, and it is based in Brussels.
