European Elections are over - Youth Participation in Europe

Concept

With the EU elections behind us, it is now time for Europe to self-organise and to look ahead at the next challenges. This interactive workshop aims to bring together young people with institutional actors and create space for direct exchange on the following topics:

- Outcomes of the European Elections
- Future of Europe: what should be the institutional priorities
- How can young people contribute to European processes?

The session will showcase best practices and success stories from My Europe, My Say! Project of the European Scout Region and AEGEE as an example of young people's involvement and youth political participation.

The activity will welcome a young member of the European Parliament such as MEP Niklas Nienaß, who will share personal insight on the journey to becoming an elected representative. He will be asked to share more about the future plans of the CULT Committee and offer direct insight into upcoming priorities on the culture and education area

- 12.40 - EP2019 milestone for Europe - contribution by the European Youth Forum
